Fascinating information - and personal confirmation of what David Icke has been saying for years

'Neuroanatomist Jill Bolte Taylor had an opportunity few brain scientists would wish for: One morning, she realized she was having a massive stroke. As it happened -- as she felt her brain functions slip away one by one, speech, movement, understanding -- she studied and remembered every moment. This is a powerful story about how our brains define us and connect us to the world and to one another.'

David Icke has been talking and writing for years about the way humans have become (and been manipulated to become) 'left-brain' prisoners and thus disconnected from our Infinite self. This lady's experience, so brilliantly recalled, confirms how this works.
