

Polling Day in 'Big Brother' By-Election

Thursday, 10 July 2008

Polling Day in 'Big Brother' By-Election

The people of the Haltemprice and Howden parliamentary constituency next to Hull in north east England go to the polls today in the election triggered by the resignation of the sitting Member of Parliament, David Davis, who says he is seeking re-election on the issue of the Big Brother State in Britain.

David Icke, who stood in the election to present the big picture of global Big Brother, has seen since he arrived ten days ago that the 'Big Brother' election is just another Neocon scam, as he exposed in his public meeting last Sunday - click here to watch.

David does not expect more than a few votes because of the ridiculously short time he has had to campaign in the constituency and the usual mainstream media attempts to undermine him. David Davis will win by a mile, but while he will win the poll he has lost the argument.

The reason David Icke stood - to give information to those who have ears to hear, eyes to see and minds to open - has been achieved on a massive scale (see item above).

The result is expected in the early hours of tomorrow (UK time), but the truth has already won.

.....

ELECTION UPDATE

Questions that David Icke would ask David Davis if he was not banned from his meetings

This is what David

Icke has sought to ask of David Davis, the man who instigated the 'Big Brother' By-election because he said he wanted a debate on the Big Brother State. A debate on his own terms, that is, and the terms of his Neoconservative allies, and certainly not a debate on global Big Brother with David Icke.

Questions that David Icke would ask David Davis if he was not banned from his meetings

This is what David

Icke has sought to ask of David Davis, the man who instigated the 'Big Brother' by-election because he said he wanted a debate on the Big Brother State. A debate on his own terms, that is, and the terms of his Neoconservative allies, and certainly not a debate on global Big Brother with David Icke.

.....

The Big Brother State is being introduced all over the world, not just in the UK. So what is the common coordinating force which is imposing the global Big Brother society? Or are you just a coincidence theorist who says it is all happening at the same time by accident?

.....

You are in favour of capital punishment and voted for the invasion of Iraq. How do you square this with your claims to oppose Big Brother when there can be no more blatant example of Big Brother than to give the State power over life and death. And do you think that as the children and other civilians were cowering in their homes as Baghdad was pepper-bombed that they might have just thought that Big Brother had arrived?

.....

You have been strongly supported in your stand against 'Big Brother' by Ed Vaizey MP, Michael Gove MP and Colonel Tim Collins, who are all original signatories to the Statement of Principles of the Henry Jackson Society, a Neocon, or Neoconservative, 'think tank', set up in Britain in 2005 and named after the US senator, Henry 'Scoop' Jackson, one of the icons of the Neocon movement in the United States that has controlled the Bush administration since it came to power and orchestrated the invasions of Afghanistan and Iraq and the war on terror in general..

This is the very same war on terror that has been used to justify the introduction of the Big Brother Society that you now say you oppose.

International patrons of the Henry Jackson Society include Richard Perle, Douglas Feith, William Kristol, Robert Kagan and former CIA director, James Woolsey, all of whom were in the forefront of the instigation of the war on terror through their Neocon 'think tank', the Project for the New American Century, whose key members include Dick Cheney, Donald Rumsfeld and Paul Wolfowitz.

Indeed, Kristol and Kagan were co-founders of the Project for the New American Century.

The Henry Jackson Society is Britain's version of the same Project for the New American Century. Another of the original signatories to the Henry Jackson Society is Sir Richard Dearlove who was head of MI6 at the time of the invasions of Afghanistan and Iraq and the launch of the war on terror.

You have yourself been paid to speak by the American Enterprise Institute, the sister organisation of the Project for the New American Century, and the Neocon 'think tank', the Hudson Institute.

How can you be taken seriously as an opponent of Big Brother when you are supported by, and so closely connected to, the very people and organisations that created the war on terror that is being used to justify Big Brother?

.....

Why did you invite Patrick Mercer MP to support your campaign when he has connections to private security firms and companies that produce and sell the very Big Brother surveillance and control technology that you are complaining about?

.....

David Icke has been warning of the coming Big Brother State in ten detailed books in the last nearly 20 years. Why will you not debate with him and why was he not even allowed to attend your public meeting with Bob Geldof last week even though he had a ticket?

www.davidicke.com