

Meme Supreme: Predictive Programming in Action

Saturday, 04 April 2009

Meme Supreme: Predictive Programming in Action

'The following photographs, which I took at the newspaper rack of my local store this morning, reveal the preparatory meme seeding for the on-going Control System gear shift. Brazen in-your-face programming. Predictive programming presents and acclimatizes the public to new ideas, trends and beliefs. Fundamentally, it forms compelling mental associations between emotionally charged concepts and word patterns. The programming attempts to fuse emotive and abstract elements together, such as: 'economic stability' and 'new world order', 'global co-operation' and 'new world order', and underpinning everything - 'security' and 'new world order'.
Read more...