

The Media is the Matrix

Sunday, 05 April 2009

The Media is the Matrix

'We can only know what we are exposed to, hear, see, or are taught. Some of it may not be complete and accurate. If we have bad teachers, information sources, or dishonest experiences, we don't learn all we need to learn. If we are lied to, it is worse. We are hindered in our ability to judge what is real and true. We can not make valid conclusions, as we spoke about in our last report. That's why we have to spend the effort to use critical thinking and check things out for ourselves.'

Read more...