

GCSE Pupils 'Brainwashed to Support the MMR Vaccine'

Sunday, 10 May 2009

GCSE Pupils 'Brainwashed to Support the MMR Vaccine'

'The Government has been accused of using a school exam paper to indoctrinate children about the controversial MMR vaccine. Teenagers sitting a GCSE science exam were awarded marks only if they agreed that the study that first raised fears over the safety of MMR was bad science and biased because money changed hands. The study in 1998 by Dr Andrew Wakefield led to a crisis of public confidence in immunisation.'

Read more...