

No Light Unto Neighbours

Thursday, 18 June 2009

No Light Unto Neighbours

'I have learned yesterday from the Daily Telegraph that an Orthodox Jewish couple are suing their neighbours in a block of flats because they say an "automatic security light breaks a religious prohibition." This is not a joke. It is a true story about two Jews who fail to 'love their neighbours'.

"Dr Dena Coleman, the head teacher of a Jewish orthodox school, and her husband, Gordon, claim they are kept prisoner in their holiday flat on the Sabbath because when they leave it they trigger the light in the communal hallway".'

Read more...