

Marijuana Smoke Classified as Carcinogen

Sunday, 21 June 2009

Marijuana Smoke Classified as Carcinogen

'Marijuana smoke has been classified along with tobacco smoke and hundreds of other chemicals as a carcinogen, a new study finds. While previous studies had reported that the active chemical in marijuana promotes the death of cancerous cells in the brain, a new study shows chemicals in marijuana smoke cause cancer and reproductive problems.'
Read more...