HEALTH PRODUCTS AND RESOURCES

Today many people are taking control of their own health and realising that conventional medicine is not the only option. There are lots of natural therapies and products which are both effective and gentle on the mind, body and spirit. With this in mind, on this page you will find some interesting websites offering health products, services or information. Please visit and see if you find any of them helpful to you.

To help our visitors in their purchases, all health product advertisers are asked to provide:

- Full product information
- A pack photograph if possible
- The product price plus any postage/shipping costs
- A list of product ingredients
- Contact details including a telephone number

We always have the interests of our visitors in mind and feel this makes purchasing from our advertisers a more open and safer experience. This way you know exactly what you're purchasing, who you're purchasing from and when you can expect delivery of your goods.
