

World's oldest ritual discovered: worship of the snake in Africa 70,000 years ago

Monday, 04 December 2006

World's oldest ritual discovered: worship of the snake in Africa 70,000 years ago

'A new archaeological find in Botswana shows that our ancestors in Africa engaged in ritual practice 70,000 years ago — 30,000 years earlier than the oldest finds in Europe. This sensational discovery strengthens Africa's position as the cradle of modern man ...

... According to their creation myth, mankind descended from the python and the ancient, arid streambeds around the hills are said to have been created by the python as it circled the hills in its ceaseless search for water.'

Read more ...

.....

See Zulu Shaman Credo Mutwa share his fantastic knowledge about the 'Children of the Python' and what the python was really symbolic of in this video/DVD series, The Reptilian Agenda with David Icke ...

Click here for details ...