NO PANIC – The truth about bird flue, H5N1, vaccination and AIDS

Translated and sent in by Friederike Beck

Christopher Ray, Comments and Interview on 27th –10-2005

For –FAKTuell– magazine, Germany

The virologist Dr. rer. nat. Stefan Lanka answers questions to the FAKTuell-editors – without loophole.

Here is the interview:

Bird flue and H5N1, Vaccination and AIDS.

F: Dr. Lanka: are we threatened in Germany by the bird flue?

L: Only indirectly.

Next year they will be much less babies in Germany. If you follow the media, all storks will be ravaged by the bird flue. We shall have to prepare for this now.

F: Are you serious?

L: As serious as there is a danger for us through the bird flu virus H5N1. The thread or the catastrophe lies somewhere else.

F: Where does the danger or the catastrophe come from in your opinion?

L: We have allowed others to stop us from using our mind. That’s the real danger and the real disaster. Politics and media arrogate everything to us and get us into thinking that birds of passage in Asia got an infection through a very dangerous lethal virus.

These fatally ill birds are then flying for weeks and weeks. They are flying thousands of kilometres, and in Rumania, Turkey, Greece and elsewhere. They pass the infection on to chickens, geese and other poultry, with whom they had had no contact; the latter, very soon, fall ill and perish.

But the birds of passage don’t fall ill and don’t perish but go on flying week after week, thousands of kilometres. Who believes this, believes as well that babies are brought by the storks. Indeed, the majority of people in Germany believes in a thread through the bird flue.

F: So there is no bird flue at all?

L: Since the end of the 19th century there are reports of poultry diseases in large-scale animal husbandry: A blue colouring of the comb, decline of layers’ work, dull plumage and sometimes the animals even die. These diseases were named birds pest. In today’s large-scale poultry husbandry, especially in the keeping of chickens in cages many animals perish daily as a result of alien animal husbandry. These consequences of large-scale animal husbandry were called not anymore birds pest later on but bird flue. Since decades we have been seeing that an infectious virus is claimed to be the cause of this in order to take our minds off the true reasons.

F: Then the 100 millions of chickens which seemed to have died from the bird flue in reality died from stress and/or privation or poisoning?

L: No! When one chicken lays less eggs or its comb becomes blue and itâ€™s tested H5N1 positive, then all other chickens will be send to the gas.

Like this we get the 100 millions of chickens which ostensibly died from H5N1.

If you take a closer look you will see behind all this a decades-old strategy; In western countries big companies line their pockets like this, because the animals which have died from the â€œplagueâ€? are being refunded to them at the highest market price by the general public, whereas in Asia and everywhere else where you find successful poultry breeding the poultry market over there is being vandalized deliberately under the instructions of the UN-organisation FAO.

All big western poultry breeders therefore keep quiet and make sure through their vets, that in case the market price for poultry is falling they are going to get a â€œplagueâ€? diagnosed in order to get their animals disposed of all at once with bigger benefits than possible with normal business and at a granted maximum price by the state.

To make a long story short: This is modern subsidy fraud plus creation of paralysing scare, which makes sure besides that nobody will ask for proofs.

F: Because of what died these 61 people who had been proven the H5N1 virus?

L: There are existing only a few publicly accessible reports describing which symptoms where found and how the treatment was afterwards. These cases are clear: People with symptoms of a cold who had the bad luck to fall in the hands of the H5N1-hunters were killed with insane amounts of chemotherapy meant to block the phantom-virus. Isolated in plastic tents, surrounded by lunatics in astronaut-overalls, they died scared to death from multiple organ failure.

F: Does this mean that there is no bird flu virus at all?

L: In human beings, in the blood or other body liquids, in animals or in plants there were never seen or proven any structures which could be named as bird flu viruses or influenza viruses or claimed as any other infectious viruses. The causes of the illnesses which are claimed to be caused by a virus (also in animals), which can be found quickly one after the other or at the same time in several individuals, are well known since a long time already.

Even more: For viruses as a cause of diseases there is no space in biology much as weâ€™d like to.

Only if we go on to ignore constantly the findings of Dr. Hamer (that psychological shocks are the cause of many diseases), the knowledge of chemistry about the consequences of poisoning and privation, if we stubbornly ignore the knowledge of physics about the effects of radiation, then there is space for crazy ideas about infectious viruses.

F: Why pathogenic viruses are then still being alleged?

L: The official physicians need the paralysing, destructive fear of infectious phantom viruses which makes us stupid as a central base of their existence:

First of all to damage vast numbers of people through vaccination in order to build up a reservoir of customers, chronically sick and not in the best health who allow others to do everything with them.

Second to avoid to admit to themselves that they totally fail in the treatment of chronic diseases and have killed and are killing more people than all wars have made possible until now. Every traditional physician is aware of this but only a few dare to speak out. Thus it is no wonder that in comparison with different professional groups the suicide rate amongst physicians is by far the highest.

And third the orthodox medicine needs the paralysing fear of diabolic viruses which makes us stupid to cover up its origins as an instrument of oppression and murder of the aspiring Vatican (which grew out of the west Roman army staging a coup).

The traditional medicine has been and is the most important backing of all dictatorships and governments which are not willing to submit to written law, to the constitutions, to the human rights, which means the democratically legitimised social contract.

This also explains why the official medicine really is allowed to do everything and is under no kind of control. If we should not be able to overcome this we will all perish of this medicine.

F: Don't you think you are exaggerating a little bit?

L: I'm afraid not! Everybody who keeps his eyes open will see that.

Ivan Illich warned about this already in 1975 in his analysis "The expropriation of health". Even today this book is available under the title: "The nemesis of Medicine".

Goethe described the state of the orthodox medicine very appropriately in "Faust" and lets Dr. Faustus admit:

Hier war die Arznei, die Patienten starben und niemand fragte, wer genas, so haben wir mit h[un]glichen Latwergen, in diesen T[al]ern, diesen Bergen weit schlimmer als die Pest getobt, ich selbst habe das Gift an Tausende gegeben, sie welkten hin ich muss erleben, dass man die frechen M[ur]der lobt.

Here was the medicine, the patients were dying, and nobody asked, who was cured, like this we have been raging in this valleys and mountains with hellish treatments (latwergen=mercury based treatment) far worse than the plague, I myself have given the poison to thousands, they withered away, I have to see that cheeky murderers are praised.

Goethe calls the orthodox physicians "cheeky murderers" which means the ones who prescribe "latwerge" = poisonous substances, who are being praised even today.

At this point I may and need to mention our publications, because we were the first in modern medicine to ask the "Gretchen-question" (=Gretchenfrage, originally asked by Gretchen to Dr. Faustus about his believe) and documented and commented on the confessions.

See www.klein-klein-aktion.de and www.klein-klein-verlag.de you will find all relevant information.

F: How could you out of all people find out about this millennium-fraud?

L: I studied molecular biology.

During my studies I proved the first virus in the sea within a sea alga. This proof of a virus was published for the first time in 1990 according to scientific standard in a scientific publication.

The virus, which was proved by me, reproduces within the alga, can leave it and can multiply again in other algae of a similar kind, without causing any negative effects and this virus has nothing to do with any kind of disease.

Thus in one litre of sea water there are e.g. more than 100 millions of the most different viruses. Fortunately the sanitary authorities and physicians are not yet aware of this because we would have had a restriction already long time ago saying that we can only swim in the sea wearing a whole-body-condom.

On the contrary: Biological structures which are doing something negative have never been seen. The base of biological life is the "with-each-other", the symbiosis, and there is no space for war and destruction. War and destruction in biological life is the ascription of insane and criminal brains.

During my studies me and others we never could find a proof for the existence of pathogenic viruses. Later on we reported on this publicly and encouraged people not to believe us but try to find out themselves if there are pathogenic viruses or not.

Out of this grew the "small-small-action" (klein-klein-Aktion), which for more than five years was asking proofs from the public health authorities and finally got the admission and security that there are no existing proofs about pathogenic viruses whatsoever and no proof for the value of vaccination.

In order to be able to publish these results unadulterated we founded the "klein-klein"-publisher three years ago.

F: Which viruses are there at all and what do they do?

L: Structures which could be named as viruses were found in many kinds of bacteria and in simple forms of life still similar to bacteria.

They are elements of coexistence of different cells within a common type of cell which remained self-sufficient. This is called a symbiosis, an endosymbiosis which arose from a process of merging of different types of cells and textures from where the present cell-type originated " the cell-type humans, animals and plants are consisting in.

Like the bacteria in all our cells which process oxygen for us, the mitochondria or the bacteria in all plants which produce oxygen, the chloroplasts, viruses are components of cells.

Very important: Viruses are parts of very simple organisms like e.g. the "string-alga" a certain type of a monocellular chlorella alga and of a lot of bacteria. There the viral components are called phages. In more complex organisms especially in humans or in animals and plants these kind of elements which might be called viruses have never been found though.

In contrast to the bacteria in our cells, the mitochondria or the bacteria in every plant, the chloroplasts, which can't leave the common cell anymore because they are dependent on the metabolism of the common cell, viruses are able to leave the cell because they don't carry out any works within the cell essential for survival.

Viruses in other words are cell-components which have given all their metabolism to the common cell and therefore can leave the cell. Furthermore beyond the common cell they help other cells delivering construction and energy substance. Anything else has never been watched.

These real scientifically proved viruses are carrying out a helping and supporting function within the extremely complicated events amongst cells and in no way a destructive one.

There has in fact never been seen or been isolated any structure which could have been named a virus neither in diseases nor in any sick organism or body liquid. The claim of the existence of any pathogenic virus is an obvious fraud, a fatal lie with dramatic consequences.

F: You are not saying that even the dangerous AIDS virus is just imaginary, do you?

L: Not only me claim that the so called AIDS virus "HIV" has never been scientifically proved but only is considered to be proved by a consensus. The German Health secretary Ulla Schmidt wrote on January 5th of 2004 to the member of parliament Rudolf Krause: "Of course the Human immune deficiency virus is considered as scientifically proved by international consensus."

Today " after citizens have been asking again and again questions to the national Health authorities during years about the scientific proofs for the alleged pathogenic viruses the national Health authorities don't claim anymore that any alleged pathogenic virus has directly been proved: In a pending case to the committee of petitions (German parliament) the Health ministry passed all responsibility onto the ministry of research. The research ministry now maintains the absurd point of view that the freedom of science guaranteed by the "Grundgesetz" (constitution) prohibits the state to verify the assertions of science.

That is really absurd. This would mean the state is handing us over unprotected and helpless to an uncontrolled science, which can do whatever it likes.

F: Do you really think the state is handing us over like this?

L: I don't have an opinion about this. The only thing I can do here is watching and naming facts. We can see in Germany in the present bird flue panic how the state is handing over the people to some kind of persons camouflaging as scientists though it knows better. Forced chemotherapy is being planned and in spring the whole German population will be forced to get a vaccination twice against the alleged bird flue phantom virus.

Though neither has a bird flu virus been proved nor any virus has been that was connected to any disease. Such viruses don't exist. They are considered to be proved (just like the Health secretary admitted concerning the alleged AIDS virus) by an international scientific consensus and then claimed as existing.

F: But the bird flu virus H5N1 which is dangerous for humans was proved in detail in an English laboratory these days!

L: If ever a virus has been proved in a specific body or a liquid e.g. in birds then every average scientist is able to verify this in an average laboratory within a day if this virus can be found e.g. in a perished animal. This though has never happened and instead indirect and utterly insignificant test procedures are applied.

For example it is claimed that there are antibodies which only and exclusively join the body of the alleged virus and through the proof of a connection taken place between body and antibody the existence of the alleged virus would have been proved.

In reality the alleged antibodies are nothing but soluble blood proteins which play a major role in the sealing of growing an multiplying cells and in the healing of wounds.

These blood proteins, also called globulins, bind in any way in a test tube with other proteins providing the necessary concentration of acids, bases, minerals and solvents. Like this any sample of a human or an animal can be tested positive or negative any way you like. It is about pure, and I want to state that clearly, criminal arbitrariness.

Even when it is claimed that through a biochemical multiplication technique, called polymerase chain reaction (PCR), the virus's so called gene substance had been multiplied and therefore proved it is still a fraud. First there is no genetic substance of a pathogenic virus existing anywhere to compare with the artificially multiplied particles of gene material. And second there only have been multiplied those particles of gene substance which have been in the solvents before which are being used to indirectly prove the alleged virus.

It is really very simple:

1000 indirect proofs like the corncircles??? don't make a flying saucer. One doesn't even have to speak proper English to be able to read the publications quoted by the virus swindlers to be able to find out oneself that in there nowhere a virus appears: If you ask these scientists for the proof of the existence of the alleged viruses, e.g. the H5N1, you will receive only excuses never a direct answer.

On TV they keep saying that the investigations were made in an English laboratory. The name of this English laboratory was never told to the public. It is in fact the official EU reference laboratory for the bird flu in Weybridge. I asked the scientist many times for the proofs for the existence of the H5N1 virus. They only answered once and afterwards never again and wrote that they didn't understand my question. I wrote many times to the The World Health Organisation and especially to the coordinator of the bird flu pandemic the German Klaus StÅhr asking proofs for the existence of the bird flu virus.

There was no reaction neither by the WHO nor by Klaus StÅhr.

F: But what does this H5N1 really mean which makes half of the world tremble?

L: H stands for hemagglutinin, N for neuraminidase. The pseudo-virologists claim that in the coat of flu there are proteins of the hemagglutinin type and proteins of the neuramidase enzyme type.

In biochemistry several substances are named as hemagglutinin not only proteins which coagulate red blood cells.

The pseudo virologist have agreed on that in the hull of flu viruses there are 15 alleged different types of protein with the characteristics of a hemagglutinin. The H5 stands for type 5 of an alleged protein, which again is only proved indirectly.

In order to prove a flu virus now in a laboratory red blood corpuscles are mixed with samples in which the alleged virus is supposed to be. If the erythrocytes coagulate it is claimed that a hemagglutinin in a flu virus must be the cause of this without a virus ever been isolated out of such a sample or such a mixture much less from ever been watched.

From the way and kind of coagulation they conclude which type of haemagglutin is supposed to be in there " just like the seers in Asterix and Obelix did. These scientist dispose of a great number of testing methods which make sure through their composition that exactly that type of hemagglutinin will be indicated the "testing" scientist was keeping in mind already before.

With the enzyme neuramidase which is claimed to be part of the shell of flu viruses it's exactly the same way. The pseudo virologist are claiming here 9 different types. In reality neuroamidase is an enzyme which through splitting of parts of an amino sugar named neuramin acid regulates the surface tension which is vital for the functioning of the particular metabolism. Just like with the "viral" hemagglutinin there is a vast number of testing methods available on the market which lead to the same result in other words "prove" the very type of neuroamidase which the "prophet-virologist" are imagining already before.

Thus it is no wonder that the turkey cock of the 73 years old Greek farmer Dimitris Kominaris from the East Aegean island of Inousses which allegedly perished from H5N1 has vanished into thin air; as a matter of fact there also never arrived a sample from Greece in the already said reference laboratory. The perceptive media nevertheless reported that a first sample turned out to prove the suspicion. To confirm H5N1 itâ€™s actually not necessary to have a sample because like with all alleged epidemics itâ€™s a matter of a planned action to cause fear for political reasons.

F: In the media they are constantly showing photographs of bird flue- and flu viruses. On some of these pictures chubby shapes can be seen. Arenâ€™t these viruses?

L: No! First these chubby things which are supposed to be flu viruses are artificially manufactured particles from fats and proteins - obvious to any microbiologist.

The layman can confirm this asking for a scientific publication which contains these pictures describing them and documenting their ingredients. Such a publication doesnâ€™t exist.

Second: The pictures which are supposed to depict bird flu viruses are showing perfectly normal particles of cells that any biologist is able to clearly make out or even show entire cells which are importing or exporting cell particles or metabolic particles.

Again the layman can check this very easily asking for the underlying publications where these photographs come from. He will never receive such publications. The guild of alarmists doesnâ€™t like to reveal its basis of the transaction â€œ the fraud with laboratory and animal experiments.

If you ask the image agencies or dpa (Deutsche Presse Agentur) where did they get there pictures from, they refer to the American epidemics administration???(correct name??) CDC in the Pentagon.

From this CDC the only existing photograph of the alleged H5N1 originates.

This photograph shows the longitudinal and also cross-section of tubes within cells which are made die in a test tube. These tubes are called in jargon microtubuli and are meant to help transport and communicate within a cell and during cell division.

F: It was shown however that H5N1 kills chicken embryos and can be cultivated in eggs. So where is the point?

L: These experiments have been used for more than 100 years already in order to â€œproveâ€ the existence of totally different â€œvirusesâ€ e.g. also the alleged smallpox virus. Through the eggshell extracts are injected into the embryo. Depending on how much was injected and where into the embryo, the allegedly virus infected extract is injected, the embryo will die more or less quickly. It would die in the same way if they would have sterilized the extracts before.

Killing in that way is taken by the virologist as a direct proof first for the existence of a particular virus and second as a proof for the virusâ€™ capacity of multiplication and third and at the same time as a proof for the isolation of the virus.

From those chicken embryos which perish silently and a million times every year for the vaccine producers different sera are produced thereafter.

Apart from chicken embryos they also kill cells in test tubes to take the dying of these cells as a proof for the existence, the multiplication and the isolating of a pathogenic virus.

Nowhere however a virus has been isolated out of there, has been photographed under a electron microscope and its particles been depicted in procedures called electrophoresis.

F: What is then killing the animals in those experiments if it is not by the H5N1?

L: Here again we need to have a look at the publications which describe these animal experiments. Chickens are being suffocated slowly by giving them liquid through a tube into the windpipe during 3 days.

30 days before the alleged infection little Java monkeys get temperature transmitters implanted into their abdomens 5 days before the alleged infection they get tied up in a subpressure chamber and when the so called infection takes places these young animals, projected to a human, get 8 shot glasses of liquid pressed through a tube into their windpipe.

Parts of the same extract consisting in dying, in other words rotting, cells are injected into the animals' eyes and tonsils. Many times to these animals are done choking fits by rinsing their bronchi. The resulting damages and destructions are claimed to be the result of H5N1.

I have informed the minister for consumer protection Mrs K&Auml;nast and the present minister Trittin who pretend to be animal protectors through their personal referees: There was no reaction whatsoever.

F: The virus of the Spanish flue however could be genetically reconstructed and was found to be also a bird flu virus!

L: What is called "genetically reconstructed" is nothing else than the model of the genetic substance of a flu virus. A flu virus never has been isolated. And never has the genetic substance of a flu virus been isolated. All that has been done was to multiply genetic substance by a biochemical multiplication method called "polymerase chain reaction". By this method it is also possible to multiply any new, short particles of genetic material which never have existed before.

In the same way it is possible with this technique to manipulate the genetic fingerprint which means to test someone identical or different to a "found" sample. Only if there has been found a big amount of genetic material to compare with, the genetic fingerprint gives a certain probability for conformity providing the test was properly carried out.

From Dr. Jeffrey Taubenberger originates the claim for the reconstruction of the epidemic virus in 1918. He worked for the US army and in particular was working for more than 10 years to produce short particles of genetic material on the base of samples from different human corpses using the biochemical multiplication method PCR. Out of the multitude of produced particles he selected those which came the closest to the model of the genetic substance of the idea of a flu virus and published it.

In no corpse however a virus had been found, proved or a particle of genetic material been isolated out of it.

With the help of the PCR technique out of the blue particles of genetic substance were produced which before had not been verifiable in there. The body????

If there would have been any viruses it would have been possible to isolate them and their genetic substance and it wouldn't have been necessary to produce by the PCR technique and a lot of effort "with a clear intent to defraud" a rough of a model of the genetic substance of the idea of a flu virus.

F: How can a layman check this?

L: These short particles are not complete as defined by genetics, they don't even do for the definition of a gene, nevertheless it is claimed that they form all together the entire genetic substance of a flu virus.

To be able to understand this fraud you only have to add the length of these particles which has been published to see that the sum total of these single particles which are supposed to form together the entire genetic substance of the alleged flu virus don't come to the length of the idea of the genome of the flue virus model.

It is even easier to just ask in which publication an electron-microscopic photograph of the allegedly reconstructed virus can be found. There is no such publication.

F: It is claimed that experiments had shown that this reconstructed virus from 1918 can kill very effectively. What's wrong about this?

L: When I inject into a chicken embryo a mixture of artificially produced particles of genetic substance and proteins directly into its heart, it is going to die quicker as when I only make a peripheral injection.

When I expose cells in a test tube to a mixture of artificially produced particles of genetic substance and proteins they will die quicker than under the standard conditions, the dying of cells in a test tube, which normally is claimed to be the proof of the existence, the proof of the isolation and the proof for the multiplication of the alleged virus.

On account of this artificially produced genetic material which is claimed to be viral, models of proteins are designed by computers. From these protein models the computer reconstructs the image of an entire virus.

That's all but all around the world it is believed that in a laboratory it is possible to reconstruct viruses. Thus it is no wonder that according to releases of the CIA and the British secret service MI6 it is alleged that in North Korea the communist regime is producing even more lethal flu viruses than the H5N1.

F: Which conclusions do you draw from this?

L: After they couldn't find the boss of the alleged Al Kaida, Bin Laden, Al Kaida only meaning in Arab 'the way', and nobody having heard of that organisation before 9-11, they couldn't find any means of mass destruction like the alleged small pox viruses which were the reason for the second Iraq war, it should be clear who in reality are the terrorists and who in reality the suicide assassins: All those who take part and have a share in the virus panic!

After the proclamation of the bird flu pandemic by the WHO the epidemic plans are intending the possible collapse of supply and public order. We should take the estimates of 100 millions of dead persons seriously.

To my mind all occupants of old people's homes are in danger, they would be the first and most defence- and helpless victims next to small children after the outbreak of chaos and collapse of supply systems and law and order. Not to think about if the epidemic proclaimers would announce the emergency already in winter.

F: Does the medicament Tamiflu which, has been bought and stored with tax money in the meantime, protect people from the bird flu?

L: Nobody claims this medicament to protect from the flu.

Tamiflu is supposed to act as a neuramidase blocker. It impedes the function of the sugar neuramidase which is also responsible for the surface tension of cells.

The side effects of Tamiflu mentioned in the package insert are nearly identical with the symptoms of a heavy flu. Thus vast amounts of medicaments are being stored at the moments which cause exactly the same symptoms which occur in a real so called heavy flu and would ease with the help of a doctor after 7 days and without a doctor after a week.

If Tamiflu is given to a sick person much worse symptoms can occur than normally would in a bad flu. If the epidemic is proclaimed a lot of people will take the medicament at the same time. Then we actually will get the clear symptoms of a tamiflu-epidemic. Then we should expect tamiflu-casualties and this will be taken then as a proof for the gravity of the bird flu and for the great care of the state for people's health.

This works to the well-tryed pattern of AIDS. In Spain you can read on the package insert of the aids medication that it is unknown if the symptoms are caused by the medicaments or by the virus.

F: You wouldn't recommend then general vaccinations or the especially developed vaccination against the bird flu?

L: I don't recommend insanity.

Every vaccine contains poisonous ingredients which work continuously causing smaller or bigger permanent damages. The law for epidemic protection (Infektionsschutzgesetz) demands as an inalienable precondition the existence of a pathogenic agent e.g. a virus.

Because none of the so called infectious viruses can or may be claimed as existing it therefore is impossible to neither legally vaccinate against flu nor against the bird flu.

Any vaccination having taken place after the epidemic protection law (Infektionsschutzgesetz) came into effect on January 1st of 2001 is therefore a criminal offence of grievous bodily harm. Of course I don't recommend to surrender as victims of offences and crimes.

F: Who is behind all this, what we are seeing right now in your opinion?

L: You can only speculate on it.

Of course the pharmaceutical industry is happy about the big business with the bird flu panic. In fact however, every single person is behind this insanity. The situation is like it is. It could only get there where it is because we as citizens have been tolerating that our state is acting like that against people though our state formally is a democratic constitutional state.

Those who are waiting that the pharmaceutics will change in favour of people will wait in vain. We should stand up now or never! (Wer sich jetzt nicht wehrt, der lebt verkehrt). Everyone can ask for scientific evidence in the consumers protection ministry (Bundesverbraucherschutzministerium), in the health ministry (Bundesgesundheitsministerium) which justify the bird flu panic.

Who is waiting for the others to do so, shouldn't be surprised if the others don't do anything and the situation will like it is but will get much worse still. At the end of the day us citizens are behind all this because we have been watching and tolerating all this insanity around us inactively during years. At this point we have to start realizing social responsibility if we don't want to surrender and sacrifice to total control and chaos of an uncontrolled pseudo-science.

F: Do we then have to fight against science in your opinion?

L: The power of pseudo-science has to be overcome by a civil science which is defined by verifiability and cogency.

The language of the present scientific university medicine reveals, that democratically-constitutionally uncontrolled power is of prior importance, when traditional physicians and the state refer to the prevailing opinion in medical science to which we also should submit even when this reign claims, that babies are brought by storks or the earth is flat.

We have no reason to lament.

We are the ones who are tolerating this government behaviour. No one should be surprised though in case we go on tolerating that we have to submit to this power, like we are doing at the moment with the absurdity of the assertions of the bird flu panic, and that he wakes up tomorrow to find out with a fright that he is dead: Killed by the power he had been tolerating as a citizen of a democratic constitutional state.

In a democratic constitutional state the bird flu panic would be as impossible as AIDS and vaccinations. Us citizens we have to put into action the constitutional state. Then neither AIDS, pseudo-science, nor bird flu panic have a chance. I only can say: Don't give a chance to the bird flu! Don't believe what they are lying to you! Check it! Use your mind!
