

The Multiverse and 11:11

Friday, 28 April 2006

The Multiverse and 11:11

I had been watching a John Carpenter movie called Prince of Darkness in which "the father of satan" was attempting to manifest into our 3-D reality from "the dark side", as it was referred to in the film. This got me to wondering about that old idea of multiple dimensions and about the possibility of traversing from one dimension to another. Toward the end of the movie it was revealed that the portal through which the entity was about to emerge was, in fact, a mirror. Not really a new idea but it was portrayed in such a way that it seemed somehow more profound than the stuff that usually gets into these kinds of films.

It prompted me to explore this mirror universe idea from a slightly different point of departure, somehow inspired by John Carpenter's movie. The ideas presented here aren't new, but it's interesting to see how the alphanumeric might be interpreted as supportive of the ideas.'

Read more ...