

Monumental bollocks: a sharing

Monday, 29 October 2007

Monumental Bollocks: A Sharing

And a few people can't control the world? It's a piece of cake

Monumental Bollocks: A Sharing

And a few people can't control the world? It's a piece of cake

David Icke: R.I.P.

by Peter Farley (with regret)

I always half-heartedly joke with people that persons in my business have a great tendency, like people around Bill Clinton, of getting 'suicided'. Of course the other way their opposition to the New World Order can be voided is by being 'inter-dimensionally taken over'.

Constance Clear knew that this was what happened with her old friend

Whitley Streiber and before him, Art Bell. We tried to warn her. Her health went down hill and then she got 'suicided' by motorcycle accident.

When the positions of people in the business change drastically overnight it is fairly evident that something has gone amiss. It's kind of like the people I've worked on who have picked up 'gargoyles' or other entities, often at funerals and in cemeteries. Gradually these entities force out the Being that was originally in the body, or simply overwhelm it. One wife noticed her new husband of only a few months gradually changing, growing angrier, becoming more violent, even to the point of hunching over like the archetypal church-hanging gargoyle. Everything made sense to her when I pointed out what was taking place. She even mentioned that he had begun collecting those little statues of gargoyles commonly sold in

New Age and psychic bookstores.

Then there was the very large one a guy in the navy picked up from a hooker in Asia that turned his hair white overnight. Fifty years later when he came to me to have it taken out there was so little of him left inside the body but enough to know he wanted to be free of this thing. And thing it was-- big big thing. And nasty. It paralyzed my arm for the rest of the day taking it out, shocking my entire nervous system even until now. In many ways it reminded me of 'mama' from the Alien series of movies. This is the real world out there that most people are unaware of yet interact with everyday until someone comes along to make them aware of what's really taking place.

Other entities or energies take over bodies much as portrayed in the movie The Fallen, with Denzel Washington. Some of these things I've encountered I've told about in previous articles and detailed in the latest volume of my book --The True Nature of Planet Earth. Walk-ins, walk-outs, clones, artificial intelligences, shared bodies --it's all out there when one can 'see' other-dimensionally.

Almost anything is possible in this interdimensional war taking place right now. And one thing a person in this business doesn't do lightly is leave their 'empty' body unguarded. Those who do trance meditation know that, and any spiritually gifted person warns about the dangers of drug experiences and leaving the body unguarded. And now it's happened with someone we all know.

I was first introduced to David Icke's works back in the mid-90s and although I read very little of them, having my own work to get going with,

I was constantly aligned with his works in progress, my own taking his work at least a step further as far as I could see. My Guidance, the Spiritual Hierarchy, shared with me the fact that David was 'supposed to be' working with them but had, in Their words, 'gotten off track' with his work. They rated the result as somewhere near 60 percent correct.

It was, in fact, David's E-magazine that first helped me get my own work noticed, perhaps by many of you still with me. And I appreciated that.

After a misunderstanding and falling out with his webpeople, my works were no longer carried, and coincidentally the E-magazine only produced one more issue. When searching for some of the articles recently they seem also to have been removed, particularly the popular Chemtrails

Explained article, although this is not necessarily related to David's people.

I was fortunate enough to attend one of David's 7-hour lectures in Ft.

Worth, Tx, a number of yeras ago and had nothing but admiration for the way he was able to take the audience from knowing nothing about the subject to knowing so much--logically step-by-step--as no one I had ever seen being able to do before him. I was in awe.

Over dinner he and I didn't really get to connect since others monopolized his attention, but still it was a pleasant meeting over all.

Since then, David's work in Children of the Matrix and on the World Trade Center and 9/11 I thought were admirable pieces of research which in David's inimitable, if somewhat overblown style blasted the facts right into people's faces. I was again duly impressed, though by this time having written the first five volumes of my own work on the New World Order I was saddened that David refused to look at or even delve into the larger picture into which his research fell. It seemed like his was a problem of arrogance --that he alone could and would save the world without any outside help (an attitude reflected in his new book).

Never being one to accept channeled works very well, David lacked the higher spiritual vision of what was taking place, although his basic message of love overcoming all was still the essential message needed against the prevailing darkness.

And then, like an adventuresome Aldous Huxley in The Doors of Perception to Heaven and Hell, he decided to experience the other worlds of the shape-shifting reptilians he had written so much about. Only not by natural means. He went to Brazil (as detailed in his new book INFINITE LOVE IS THE ONLY TRUTH - EVERYTHING ELSE IS ILLUSION) to have an ayahuasca experience. The only problem is, as many of those who have dealt with drug-related takeovers of a body, it was not David who got back into the body after this experience. As an experienced spiritual healer who can 'see' and work on people in any location around the world and interdimensionally, it doesn't take much to scan somebody to see what's going on, and with David, he's just not there. And what is is not very nice at all.

Like Whitley and those who went before him, one can see the difference in his work, hear it in his message, though with this new book, beyond the refrigerator-magnet title, there is not much substance to note--nothing most of us haven't heard from other druggies who only become more self-involved with every new drug-induced awakening. And here it doesn't work at all. If David once didn't have the higher spiritual vision of what was taking place in this corner of fine. Well, it ain't. And something has to be done about it.

And now the rest of us have to carry on, one more fallen foe to be mourned in a war that has no children and no victims, only combatants, as we all are.

We finally have a second version of the website up and running at www.4truthseekers.net and hopefully will have another version at the old web address in a day or two. Until then, to give some more validity to the article on David (I know those who have been with me a while don't need it) but here is an answer from an interview with him after the experiences with drugs:

Q: ATS: / And, Where are you at in your life right now?

*A: David Icke: * A turning point. My work is going to go in a very different direction from here, although it will still be related to my journey so far. The story is much bigger than almost anyone can imagine and if people think the reptilian stuff is far out they should see my next book."

http://www.abovetopsecret.com/pages/david_icke_interview.html

And the kind of response I got from a number of people whose abilities

I trust, both by e-mail and in person:

"Peter,

This interesting on David Icke, maybe it's why I could never really get in to his work?!? LL"

"Peter, I guess this is why I just got the urge not to read anymore of his works about a year ago." EAC

From: "Lindsay"

To: 4truthseekers-owner@yahoogroups.com

Subject: Re: David Icke R.I.P.

Date: Fri, 03 Jun 2005 22:09:03 -0000 Wow, I read this article 3 times just to get it.?David isn't David anymore...and Art Bell as well?? Wow.? So, can they get back into their bodies?? Where are they?

Lindsay

From: "Sotirios Arambatzis"

To: peter6264@...

Subject: Re: David Icke
R.I.P.?(pls add me to this response)

Date: Sat, 04 Jun 2005 03:48:16 +0000

I also meant to ask there very same questions Peter, if you have the time to answer.

Love, Sammy

From: "peter farley"

To: sarambatzis@...

Subject: Re: David Icke R.I.P. (pls add me to this response)

Date: Sat, 04 Jun 2005 13:31:13 +0000

Both
Paul Twitchell's book, The Talons of Time, and Madeleine

L'Engle's A Wrinkle in Time are exactly about this type of situation.

If you're locked out of your body, where are you? Good question. What answer do you get?

From:
"Sotirios Arambatzis"

Umm.. it came to me as soon as I finished reading the question. I cannot believe it - duh! Initially I though he would be floating somewhere in the Ethers - not so. It's right there, in those books, in Vol.6 about Tori's energy form. Icke wouldn't be permitted to float the ethers, he'd eventually connect with someone and channel what had happened - like Tori, like Meg's father, he is "captured", dimensionally imprisoned! That is what I get... and in a dark, cold place devoid of light and love. *sigh